

The Carmel Pine Cone

When former Monterey Peninsula resident, Dr. Bela Maday, visited here recently, he was enthusiastic about his job as Senior Research Associate at the American University in Washington, D. C.

The current project at the American University in Washington bears the name "Interdisciplinary Research of Cultural Areas." It is a profound undertaking, significant for man's knowledge of man.

Over Million And Half Construction Here Adams Reports

The sum of $1,610,840.00, total for construction in Carmel in 1958, is the largest amount in the history of the city, according to the report Building Inspector Floyd Adams submitted to the city council last night.

City revenue from building permits totalled $3,783.95. This exceeded any previous year by $617. Number of building permits in 1958 was 156. This number was exceeded only in 1948 when 221 permits were issued for construction valued at $1,454,500.00.

Tuesday Was Good Day For Pines On Council Tour List

Carmel city council was in a tree-saving mood Tuesday when they junketed through the crisp, lean winter afternoon on tree inspection tour.

They agreed to top a shaggy cypress in the center planting at the beach end of Ocean Avenue; decided that the leaning pine at Camino Real, southwest of Ocean Avenue wasn't as dangerous as alleged. "Half the pines in Carmel lean," said Allen Knight.

At Junipero and Sixth they agreed to take out the south oak in front of the dairy and trim its northern neighbor. The street department plans to put in center parking and planters there, and space is needed for movement of south-bound traffic.

They denied Philip G. Preble's petition for removal of three pines on the north side of Fifth near Mission, with a split vote. Mayor John Chitwood and Street Superintendent Jim Buffington voting in favor of removal. Preble wanted the trees out so he could have a wider driveway at the Mission (Continued on Page Fourteen)

Kiwanis Sponsors Occidental Glee Concert Saturday

Sponsored by the Carmel Kiwanis Club, Occidental College Glee Clubs will give a concert on Saturday evening at 8:00 o'clock in Sunset School Auditorium.

Under the direction of Howard Swan, 45 glee club members will sing the Motet, Jesus, Dearest Master; by Bach; two quartets by Brahms; Hymn to the Virgin by Verdi or The Ceremony of Carols, Benjamin Britten; Tarantella, Randall Thompson; Tenebrae Factae Sunt, Poulen; At the Cry of the First Bird, Grant Fletcher, and Selections From Catulli Carmina by Orff.

Local Occidental College graduates will hold a reunion in Sunset School cafeteria at 7:00 o'clock immediately preceding the concert.

Council Gives Demonstration Of Committee System

At last night's council meeting Councilman Tom May, Jr., proposed a revision of the business license ordinance which would equalize the fees. At present the heaviest load, percentage-wise, falls on small business and becomes progressively lighter in the higher brackets, especially in the $100.00 and over category.

Mayor Chitwood appointed a committee of Councilmen May and James Buffington to meet with the large income group affected by the changes to find out if they would be willing to accept the increase.

Council passed a notice of intention for a street improvement assessment district affecting Eighth Avenue from Junipero to Santa Fe; First Avenue from Camino del Monte to Torres; and Santa Rita, 240 feet South of Fourth. Labor, supervision and equipment would be supplied by the city, property owners in the district to pay for materials and incidental expenses. No description of the property to be involved in the proposed assessment district was provided, but may be forthcoming in the engineer's report and legal publication.

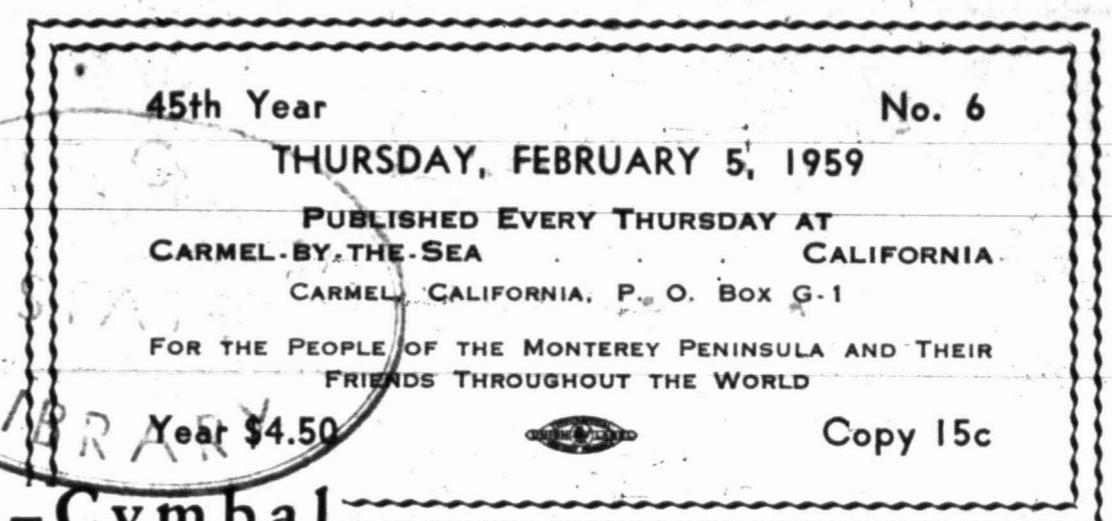

No committee of councilmen was appointed to confer with property owners as to whether they were willing to be specially taxed for street improvement. Only small property owners are involved.

Little League Has 6 Sponsored Teams, Open On April 27

Carmel's Little League baseball games start on April 27, according to William Woolsey, Little League president. The decision was made at a board of directors' meeting this week.

There will be six teams in play again this year, sponsored by Boys' Town, Wilder and Jones, Pilot Market, San Carlos Agency, Turner and McElroy and the Sport Shop. Coaches again will be Bill Rosenkranz, Jack Miller, Lew McCreey, Art Carpenter, Jack Cate and Don Canham.

Last year 169 Carmel boys between the ages of 8-12 took part in Little League activities, Mr. Woolsey states. Boys' Town, the local champions, continued through district playoffs and were runners up for the district championship.

Council Sets Hearing On Gas Station

The Carmel Citizens Committee will have another round in their fight against the Carmel Plaza development (Fenton Block) in general, and particularly against the proposed gas station in the underground parking facility. There will be a public hearing before the city council Tuesday night, February 17, at 8:00 o'clock on an appeal filed at last night's council meeting.

Last week, over the protests of citizens, property owners, and neighboring gas station proprietors, the planning commission decided to permit four gas pumps, lube and car wash racks, tire and battery sales in the Plaza parking basement which is in an area zoned against gas stations. The planners ruled that the gas station, in this case, is an accessory use for the convenience of Plaza customers and is subordinate to the parking lot business.

It was announced then that the objectors could not appeal the planning commission's decision to the city council, since the planners were sitting as a board of adjustments when they made their ruling. There is no provision in the Carmel zoning ordinance for appeals from board of adjustment decisions, as there is from planning commission action.

During the week, Thomas S. Montgomery, attorney for Lady Claude Kinnoull and Mrs. R. Ellis Roberts, two Citizens Committee members, dredged up a 1955 amendment to the state code governing boards of adjustments, which requires that there be pro-

Foresters Choose Joseph Weston For Chairman

At its organization meeting yesterday afternoon, the newly created Carmel Forest Commission chose Joseph Weston chairman, Donald Teague, vice chairman, and City Clerk Lawrence Rose, secretary. Members fixed first Wednesday of the month, 4:00 o'clock for their regular meeting time.

Herbert Blanks, displaying an aerial photo map of Carmel and its surrounding areas, pointed to the heavy tree cover in Del Monte Forest, the thinner forest in Carmel and the baldness of most of Carmel unincorporated.

"We should look at our job as primarily management of an urban forest," he said. "This map shows why our commission has a definite purpose and value. You can see why a planting program is so important. We can take some pride in our council's efforts to preserve our forest," he added, pointing out that Carmel's place (Continued on Page Fourteen)

Way Opens For County Junior College District, Cheaper For Everyone

A county wide junior college district could operate and continue the building programs of Hartnell and Monterey Junior Colleges for a tax rate of 23 cents, Dr. J. F. Ching, President of Hartnell, told a gathering of board members and administrators from Pacific Grove, Monterey, Carmel school districts, and Hartnell Junior College district, Tuesday evening at Casa Munras.

Monterey high school district tax payers pay a 59 cent rate to operate and conduct a building program of Monterey Junior College.

Hartnell Junior College rate is 35 cents for operating and capital outlay.

Carmel and Pacific Grove, not belonging to either district, pay 52 cents tax to cover tuition and capital outlay contribution for students attending Monterey College.

Ching, basing his figures on current operating and building costs of the two colleges, pointed out that this 23 cent rate for a county-wide junior college district would obtain only if both Hartnell and Monterey ceased the uneconomical pay as you go method of financing their building program. Continuing in that method of financing, the county wide tax rate would be 48 cents. This would not appeal to Hartnell which now has a 35 cent rate.

But if capital outlay expenditures were kept to 10 percent of current expenditures, with the balance of approximately $800,000.00 raised by a bond issue of 20 years duration at 4 per cent interest, then the bond rate would be 3 cents, which with a current operation rate of 20 cents would result in a 23 cent rate for the county-wide district.

Board members and administrators have long been agreed on the educational advantage to the children of the county of the colleges being put under a single finance structure, but had felt that the county-wide junior college district was politically impossible since it would result in higher taxes for Hartnell District.

Dr. Ching's figures place a new light on the situation.

PADRE CAGERS GO

TWO-FOR-THREE AGAINST PG

Arch-rival Pacific Grove continued in the basketball doldrums last Friday night as the Carmel hoop squads downed the Breakers in two of the three games played. Carmel's front-running varsity outshot the visiting Breakers, 48 to 30, as Russ Wise and Dale Dawson poured through 29 points between them. Carmel's junior varsity ran away from Coach Jim Lebeck's jayvees, 40 to 25, with Pat Boyle and Fred Bucher leading the Padre scorers. Charley Howell's PG lightweight squad got excellent shooting and rebounding from Barry Baskin and Bucky Boynes to clip the Padre lightweights, 38 to 26. With the win over the Little Padres, the PG lights earned a tie for first place in the lightweight standings.

At the outset of the varsity clash it appeared that the Breakers might offer the Padres a tussle as they broke in front by five points midway of the first period and were holding their own in the rebounding department.

However, the cool and poised Padres made a run at the Breakers in the second period and had a 19-12 bulge at halftime. Rugged backboard play by Russ Wise and clever passing by Dale Dawson were the main ingredients which unhinged the Pacific Grove quintet. Dawson is rapidly becoming one of the best playmakers in the B-division and his team leadership welds together the veteran Padre quintet.

Carmel's lightweight squad suffered through a sour-shooting first half in which it hit only two field goals and scored only six points. The Wavelet zone defense forced the Little Padres to fire from the outside and the cover wouldn't come off the hoop. Coach Howell's charges were in front, 16 to 6, at the half and had game control pretty well established. With the two Mikes, Dunham and Draper, leading the way, the Carmel lights closed the gap in the third period but the Wavelets rallied behind Baskin and Boynes to sew it up in the final quarter.

Coach Dick Lawitzke's junior varsity squad made it six straight at the expense of the Breaker jayvees as Pat Boyle chipped in with 13 points and Fred Bucher meshed 10. The hustling defensive play of Ron Faia and Toby Edson put a damper on the PG offense and set the stage for the lop-sided win.

uars downed the tenacious Lobos, 89 to 83.

The Lobos were supposed to roll over and play dead before the fast-rolling San Jose hoopsters but Coach Pete Pelletta failed to notify his boys and the Monterey lads very nearly upset the heavily-favored Jaguars. The cozy Carmel High pavilion will be taxed to capacity tomorrow night as the Lobos try to improve on their near-miss of last Friday. Game time is 8:00 o'clock.

The rebel Gilroy High basketball team which bolted the B-division of the Coast Counties Athletic League to try its hand with the big boys in the A-division is finding the competition to its liking and is leading the big school loop. The Mustangs clobbered favored Santa Cruz a week ago and last Friday night, Hagen's sharpshooters edged Monterey by two points.

Hollister, another refugee from the B-division, is finding the going a little tougher in the A-league as they flounder in the second division. However, Hollister has some consolation as it holds the only win over the league-leading Gilroy

Dr. Bela Maday Tells Of Work With American University

After obtaining his doctorate, Bela Maday lectured at the Technical University in Budapest on Labor-Management Relations, and on the organization of educational and recreational curricula for laborers. He still worked for the YMCA. Then an event occurred which strongly influenced Dr. Maday's fortunes years later.

L. L. Doggett, president of the YMCA College in Springfield, Massachusetts, retired in 1937. Over 70 years old, he set out for a year-long trip around the world. In Budapest, he met Bela, and asked him, "How would you like to go to Springfield College on a scholarship?" Bela was interested indeed. Mr. Doggett continued his world tour. A year later, Bela received a letter from Springfield. The scholarship was granted. Unfortunately, things in Europe were by then at a critical stage. Bela was of military age, and could not leave the country. With regret, Springfield College was forgotten.

Then the war broke out, and Hitler's armies overran many territories. In 1942 and 1943, Dr. Maday received his only military assignment — the repatriation of Hungarian nationals from German occupied areas in Eastern Europe. He did a good job of it. He also "repatriated" quite a number of Polish patriots whom he smuggled out with Hungarians from the Nazis.

By that time, Dr. Maday was already well known in Hungary. He was the author of a best selling book, "Dare To Be A Hungarian", which — in a country of ten million — sold 180,000 copies. It was a book which summarized the political thoughts and moral teachings of Count Paul Teleki. Count Teleki was the Hungarian Prime Minister who committed suicide in 1941, despairing about European democracy falling victim to totalitarian regimes.

When the war was over, there were about 500,000 Hungarian Displaced Persons, mostly in Austria and Germany. Dr. Bela Maday received a mandate from the City of Budapest and the Hungarian Red Cross to take social and medical care of his dispersed countrymen. The work took Dr. Maday all over Europe, but it had an even greater meaning for him. In 1947, when Matyas Rakosi, shielded by Soviet tanks, terminated democracy in Hungary, Bela was outside his country. He went from Austria to Switzerland. And there he remembered Springfield, Massachusetts.

An inquiry brought a welcome reply, "Yes, the scholarship is still available to you." Dr. Maday came to Springfield, and studied Group Work, and Community Organization. When his year at the YMCA College was over, the U.S. Army Language School called him to Monterey. He taught here until 1957.

Then came the call to come to Washington. The United States opened ports of entry for 40,000 Hungarian refugees. Dr. Maday's job was to make the transition of refugees from European camps to the new conditions as smooth as possible.

When this work was almost over, Dr. Maday was free to go back to his own academic field, education, and scientific research in cultural anthropology, sociology, and human relations. He joined the American University in Washington, D.C.

The program set forth by the University is in applied research. Most of the material which has been assembled and evaluated is available to the public. It has been published by the Human Relations Area Files Press. It scrutinizes each "cultural area", each country under consideration, from every conceivable pertinent point, such as constitution, administration, economics, political dynamics, moral precepts, religion, and many others.

Leonard Hall, Audobon Screen Tour lecturer will appear at Sunset Auditorium on Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

Waterway Wildlife, a color film of many wild creatures harbored and nurtured by a mid-western watershed, will be shown. Mr. Hall of Caledonia, Missouri, will give the narrative and a conservation message to accompany Karl Mawowski's photography and sound recordings of waterway dwellers. Some of the creatures shown are muskrats, white-tailed deer, least bittern, Canada geese, rock bass, cottontail rabbits, red foxes, mink and crayfish.

Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Studio Casting 3 Tennessee Williams One-Act Plays

The Studio Theatre in Carmel plans to produce Tennessee Williams' one-act plays as their next attraction.

Tennessee Williams, as one of America's leading and most controversial playwrights, has long been a master of the one-act play drone, seemed hopelessly blocked. Bela Maday, shaken and pale, emerged from the wreckage and surveyed the situation. From then, until the arrival of the Highway Patrol, the scholarly man directed the traffic, unsnarling the confusion on a busy Sunday night. There was a job to be done, so Dr. Bela Maday did it.

The teams researching individual "cultural areas" look at each area from roughly 40 different aspects. Each team has six specialized research associates. Dr. Bela Maday is content with the division of work on his team's present assignment. Out of 40 aspects, he was allotted nine. That means a lot of work, and a lot of academic curiosity stimulated and satisfied.

On his way from Monterey to San Francisco where he was to board a plane for Washington the other day, Dr. Maday was in a four-car crash. The car in which he was passenger was a total wreck. Highway 101, somewhere between Morgan Hill and Ma-form, and some of his most concise and creative work has gone into these dramatic studies which he has later developed into longer, better-known plays. William's Blanche in Streetcar Named Desire, and Baby Doll are two character studies he wrote earlier in one-act form before expanding them into their present Broadway and Hollywood counterparts.

Production of these plays is planned for March and casting of the always-excellent William's acting roles is open to any interested performers. See William Glaves at Mayfair 4-1661 weekdays 1:00 to 5:00 o'clock for information on readings.

Letters To The Editor . . .

This column is at the disposal of individuals who wish to express their opinions. The Pine Cone welcomes such letters, but emphasizes that they do not necessarily reflect the opinion of the publisher and editor, or the policy of the paper.

Carmel,
February 4, 1959

Editor, Pine Cone:

Cannot something effective be done about the acoustics of the city hall?

The council sits much higher than the audience so that sounds, which rise, do not flow down over barriers to the same extent. Apart from this, inability of some speakers to enunciate clearly or project words beyond relaxed room speech is a stumbling block to listeners. Even those with exceptionally acute hearing say they miss much!

If the council really wants public co-operation and opinions, as they state, conditions should be made with which to procure them.

Last Wednesday at the Planning Commission meeting, one would like to have fully comprehended the ramifications of the proposed plans (in a like gathering in Britain, there would have been calls of "louder, please!"). There is little apparent effort to have any beyond the next door neighbor get the statements, whereas speaking in public demands projection for all present.

However, one can hardly expect every councilman to have studied speech or voice production, though, as with actors and preachers, it would greatly assist presentation!

The point at issue is to have all our good councilors heard and understood by those who are genuinely interested in Carmel. Therefore, some kind of effective mechanical amplifier should be found to fit the well-known bad acoustics of the hall—for though there appeared to be a trial of an apparatus last week—it had no appreciable effect throughout the auditorium.

Sincerely,
Mary Lindsay-Oliver

Editor's Note: The planning commissioners are greater offenders than the council. Amplification would help, but not in the case of the mutters who simply don't want to be heard.—W. C.

Mr. Leslie G. Fenton
Crespi Lane,

Pebble Beach, California

Dear Mr. Fenton:

We are taking the liberty of expressing to you some of our deep convictions, knowing that they are shared by hundreds of other Carmel citizens. Since you do not live in Carmel, but in Pebble Beach, you might perhaps regard Carmel as a backward place and an opportunity to be exploited, rather than as the beloved home of many who have chosen it for special reasons, but not in order to make money out of it.

May we explain some of our reasons? We have been fed-up with city life, with shallow display and commercialization and are thankful to have found a small place of rare natural beauty, where there are more than ample cultural advantages and stimulation, among charming people, many of whom have been distinguished citizens elsewhere, achieving mature perspective and a high sense of more than material values. We love the simple village atmosphere and quiet life and do not at all object to certain so-called "inconveniences" of our own choosing. We do want its rustic charm polished or streamlined.

Our business section is already large for the size of the village and more than adequate for our needs, especially since the larger stores of Pacific Grove, Monterey and Salinas are near enough, if needed. We emphatically do not want any more chain stores, or branches of big business with headquarters elsewhere, and we want no more motels, hotels, liquor outlets, service stations, etc. Many of our delightful shops are owned and run by our semi-retired citizens, who share actively in our village cultural life. They are our friends, not outsiders come to high-pressure or exploit us. There is a world of difference between an outsider with other standards who buys a business here because it looks like a chance to make money, and a seasoned Carmel resident who is weary of being wholly retired and runs a little friendly business even on a part-time basis, perhaps closing up shop when he feels like it and not taking it too seriously.

We resent very much people who may be attracted to Carmel by its very quaintness, its simple, intimate characteristics, but immediately want to change and "modernize" them and ruin what the rest of us try hard to preserve. We especially resent outsiders who exploit our natural beauties and carefully nurtured charms to make money for themselves.

We and many others do our banking with the Bank of America in Monterey or other banks, but we are more than willing to go to Monterey for it, and do not want another bank in Carmel. We enjoy an occasional shopping or pleasure trip to San Francisco or Los Angeles, but we do not want any "M. Magnin's" or "Bullock's," for example, in Carmel. Many people who live elsewhere but love Carmel, come back often to shop in our little stores, with their excellent choice of merchandise, but they, too, prefer Carmel as it is; not as you apparently want to change it.

We like the attractive Spanish-style theater which you want to tear down. It has become a familiar landmark. And we do not want our lovely old trees destroyed for more tourist quarters, which we don't want and don't need. If more accommodations are on rare occasions needed by tourists, the other towns on the peninsula are very near and will gladly accommodate them. They can still come over here and stroll about our village without ruining it for the rest of unnecessary business this provision is very bad. I am thinking of a "snake pit" affair on Highway 91 between Barstow and Las Vegas. It is called "The Den of the Thing." Advertisements in the form of very conspicuous billboards line the highway for at least 12 air miles, I would say, with such eye-catching phrases as "Can You Take It?" It would seem to be that this provision is written into the bill with the intention of permitting these billboards to remain. The desert, especially in the spring when the wild flowers are in bloom, and with the views of the distant mountains unobstructed by billboards, is a beautiful spot and one of California's chief glories. Is the new bill going to permit such desecration for all time?

I shall lose much of my enthusiasm for the bill, unless this provision can be altered.

Very sincerely,
C. Edward Graves

Eisenhower's Letter Opens Observance Of Boy Scout Week Sat.

President Eisenhower today told 4,780,000 Boy Scouts in the United States that they "play an important part in the life of the national community," according to a release received by Dan Kohn, president of the Monterey Bay Area Council.

A copy of the President's message was forwarded to local Scouts by Dr. Arthur A. Shuck, Chief Scout Executive.

Saturday is the first day of Boy Scout Week which ends on February 13. This week-long observance commemorates the 49th year of Boy Scouting in the United States. President Eisenhower is the honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America and has been a member of the National Executive Council since 1948.

THE WINERY

Grapes from the slopes of russet-purple vines
Now mashers crush, juice flows without a stop
Into dim barns, fills casks for aging wines;
Instead of caves are trim white house and shop.

The shop's twilight sets off on velvet dark
Like jewels, deep burgundies, bronze ports, below
Topaz sauterne, sherries like reddish bark—
No veiling cobwebs hide their limpid glow.

The son, Velázquez' Bacchus, ivy-crowned;
Leading the vintagers with tribal chant
In early Greece or Israel might be found.
The ruddy father for old gods in the Levant

Might have tilled vineyards, where his fathers grew
Grapes before Bacchus and evolved him, too.

PANORAMA OF THE LONELY

Is there not comfort
In the night of dreaming?
Landscape distant, yet familiar,
Faces near,
And yet too far away
For more than seeming
That they are of the heart,
Intimate and dear!

A FLOWER BLOOMED

Geraniums are hardy souls;
And though I pruned with ruthless hand,
And cast aside as worthless wood
Much of their growth which had withstood
My gentler discipline;—this contraband
I would destroy.
It took away the tidy look
From well-kept hedge and garden nook.
Weeks passed; and pleased my esthetic sense
With a garden, lush and fully groomed;
But on a pile of discarded trash
A flower bloomed.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

Ruth Galvin Thorneburg, Librarian

All unbeknown to you, you have been subscribing to several magazines for private people, which is good of you, but will not continue if we can help it. For several months now someone has been taking the Hobbies magazine as soon as it was put on the racks. Thinking we might help this person to leave it where it belongs we kept it at the desk. It was not asked for, so we put it back on the rack. It was gone in less than 24 hours. So also, are this month's Nature magazine, Natural History, Science News Letter and Writers Digest. Don't think that as librarians we are more interested in keeping books and magazines than in serving the public. We are vitally interested in having the materials we have purchased with your tax money right here to be read and enjoyed by you when you come here for that purpose. People who steal from a public library are actually stealing from their own neighbors and friends. So, reluctantly, we are beginning to keep certain periodicals at the desk. We will post a typed list of these and attach the list to the ends of the magazine rack. Just ask for them at the desk. We want you to have them; that's why we are keeping them for you.

We have a new shipment of films. The titles are Beautiful Bonne Bay (in color and to run for 14 minutes), Holiday in Snow (color and running 12 minutes), and Gift of the Glaciers (also in color and running 21 minutes). We have previewed two of these and enjoyed them very much. The last one we shall view next Saturday at our weekly staff meeting. Beautiful scenery in these Canadian films.

We have the new Goren book on bridge playing, in a box, with a pack of cards which indicate 24 different hands. The book tells how these hands should be played. Everyone is playing the Goren way. Borrow this outfit and learn how.

Professor E. J. West has collected the writing of George Bernard Shaw in which he discusses theater and plays, essays, letters and articles done by this great critic, and many of them have not been published before. The title is Shaw on Theatre. You will enjoy it.

If you are like most of us, forgetful, that is, you may profit by reading Bruno Furst's book, Stop Forgetting. The author runs a memory school which has been very successful. The book starts out by telling you most comfortably that you can remember, and then goes on to tell you how to do it. Don't forget to come in for this book on remembering.

We had eight requests for The Death of Manolete by Barnaby Conrad. There seems to be much interest in bull fighting these days. So we bought the book. It is ready. The spectacle of a sad young man, photographed time and again in his death agony, is for lovers of bull fighting, not for me. Some one steal this one, please.

The name of Sidonie Gruenberg is a magic one for parents, and her new book entitled Everyday Problems of Boys and Girls, should be most helpful. It is specifically concerned with children from 5 to 12.

Everybody has problems with children now and then. Borrow this book and perhaps you may find the answer to yours.

There are many more new books this week, including Lady L by Romain Gary. Staff members who have read this say it isn't so good, but perhaps you may think differently. Reading is like politics or religion; you must choose for yourself what seems best to you.

Peninsula Church Women To Observe World Day Of Prayer At The Carmel Presbyterian Church On February 13

Missionary education, medical and humanitarian projects of the United Church Women throughout the world will be introduced through a dramatic presentation directed by Mrs. Henry Venn at the observance of the World Day of Prayer at the Carmel Presbyterian Church on Friday afternoon, February 13.

Colleges for girls in Cairo and Beirut, elementary schools in various foreign lands, medical centers and books for the newly-literate peoples are among the many social services carried on by the U.C.W., which is celebrating this day all over this country and in many others in programs similar to the one in Carmel. All Christian women are invited to attend and share in the work.

A special prayer service will meet in Westminster hall at 12:30 o'clock, led by Mrs. Spencer Hoyt, to be followed in the sanctuary at 1:30 o'clock by a service prepared for the organization by nine Christian women chosen in Egypt.

Each year the program for international use is arranged by the members of a different nationality to emphasize the unity of religion. The churches represented by the Egyptian women are the Coptic Orthodox, the Anglican, the Evangelical and the Y.W.C.A.

Choirs from the participating churches of the Monterey peninsula are invited to help with the music and be seated with the Presbyterian choir. Mrs. Daniel Peter-son is the organist and Mrs. Robert Canada is soloist for the day.

Litanies of the Call to Prayer will be led by the pastor, the Reverend Joseph M. Ewing, and he also will pronounce the benediction. Other parts of the service will be presented by Mrs. C. M. Hall, Mrs. Arthur Marshall, Mrs. L. J. Fletcher and Mrs. Fenton Grigsby. The dramatic presentation of the projects with college students and different nationalities taking part will be followed by consecration of the offering in a litany led by Mrs.

Jack Warren and the benediction by Dr. Ewing.

Departing from the custom of other meetings of the U.C.W., there will be no luncheon at the church. There will be a baby sitter provided during both services so that mothers with young children may attend. All who are interested are invited.

Peruvian Singer, Local Dancers To See Flamenco Revue

Yma Sumac, famous Peruvian singer who discovered La Malaguena and Rafaela, gypsy dancer and guitarist, in Granada, and is sponsoring their coast-to-coast tour, will be guest of honor at their Flamenco Rhythms concert in Sunset Auditorium, Carmel, Friday night. She recently returned from Havana, and is motoring here from Beverly Hills.

Miss Sumac made her American debut at Sunset Auditorium in 1947 co-featured with Carlos Montoya, under management of Pan American Concert Guild, which is booking the Pacific coast performances of La Malaguena and Rafaela.

Advance registrations from Monterey, Carmel, Pebble Beach, Pacific Grove, Carmel Valley, Big Sur, Nepenthe, Salinas, Seaside, Fort Ord and Hollister forecast a brilliant turnout for Friday's concert.

Mei An Sage, Dorothy Dean, Jo-anne Nix, Dale Lebler, Kira Ivanovsky, Loretta Lee, Ramon Renov, Linda Lion, Patricia Ramsey, Lilita de Cordoba and other Peninsula dancers and choreographers are slated to attend the performance.

Dancers motoring down from San Francisco for the event include: Magana Baptiste, Jean-Atoine Martin, Raoul Pause, Lita and Gabriel Cansino, Guillermo del Oro, Irene Weed, Carol Beals, Ruth Beckford and Sergei Temoff.

A. W. McEntire

Adrain Wilkinson McEntire died on January 27 in his home at Mission Street and Eleventh Avenue following a heart attack. He had lived in Carmel for 35 years and was a builder until he retired several years ago.

Mr. McEntire was born in Marriott, Utah, on December 26, 1891. In 1913 he married Miss Eva Sorenson in Ogden, Utah and made his home in that city before moving to Carmel. He was a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in Pacific Grove.

Survivors are his wife; five daughters, Mrs. Verna Titts of San Francisco, Mrs. Erma Kendall and Mrs. Mildred Kendall of Seaside, Mrs. Gladys Zarp of Carmel and Mrs. LaRene Stevenson of San Jose; a son, Glen McEntire of Monterey; and 16 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on January 31 in the Paul Funeral Chapel with Bishop H. Worth Ingersoll and Bishop Ardell Knight of the Latter Day Saints' Church officiating. Burial was in Mission Memorial Park.

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

Those who know the modern Hindemith's compositions are sometimes mystified by the apparent lack of cohesion they exhibit. Performance, however, may have something to do with it, for listening recently to a record of the composer's Kammermusick op 24 No. 1 in its world premiere recording by the San Francisco Little Symphony under Gregory Millar, I was amazed at the interesting fluency and wholesomeness Millar had achieved in conducting this work.

His capacity to weld together all the bizarre elements of Hindemith's music is a power that every conductor does not have. "The dazzling cadenza for clarinet, flute and harp and its luxuriant exploitation of all instruments involved is a particularly notable example of how original Hindemith can be by just making music without bothering to compose," as P. H. Hagan gives in his notations.

Jack Benny, who has contributed his fun in violin playing for a number of benefits, appears with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra March 2, also with the National Symphony Orchestra and the New York Philharmonic to benefit these organizations. Why not entice him here to start a sustaining fund for the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra? He has raised greater sums than any Jazz Festivals with his Gypsy Airs and first movement of the Mendelssohn Concerto, and while not an entirely lame violinist, he gives "the funniest ribbons of solo fiddling ever to reach the public's eyes and ears." In Los Angeles, he raised $100,000 with and for the Philharmonic!

Gregory Millar held an audition for singers in the Ninth Symphony of Beethoven which will be given on March 15 and 16. Many well-known local vocalists were present. John Farr is assisting Millar in preparatory rehearsals of the Symphony Chorus. The children's two concerts take place on March 8 and 10.

On Tuesday evening I attended a meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Arts and Humanities Council which took place at the community room of the Monterey Public Library. They elected a board and received names of people throughout Monterey County who wanted to be charter members. A number of Carmel residents, especially members of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra, were also present, interested in the idea that the American Symphony League may be able to establish its headquarters on the Peninsula with the help of the council. This should eventuate a situation of great value to the development of music in our community.

THE CARMEL PINE CONE-CYMBAL

Rollo Payne Chosen 1959 President Of Community Chest

The 29th annual meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Community Chest was held January 26. Rollo Payne of Carmel was elected president, Mrs. Hampton S. Stewart, Jr., and Harry Manning, vice presidents. Edward Paravicini was elected treasurer. Brayton Witherell, who has served as executive director and campaign manager for two years, was appointed by the incoming president for another year, and George O. Carlson was appointed to serve as chairman of the budget committee.

Retiring President Gordon K. Reid reported that the 1959 campaign has been the most successful of its kind ever held on the Peninsula and congratulated General Campaign Chairman Richard Osborne and Executive Director Brayton Witherell on their accomplishment. To date the campaign has netted $124,000 and there are still more funds uncollected which will swell the total higher.

Mr. Osborne presented Community Chest Awards of Merit to those who worked to bring the campaign to a successful close and paid sincere compliments to the army of 1,500 volunteer workers.

Mr. Witherell in his report said that during the past year campaign expenses had been reduced from seven per cent to 3.9 per cent and administrative and campaign expenses had been reduced from 17 per cent to 14 per cent.

Mr. Witherell stressed that the Chest has an open-door policy and welcomes any worthy agency beneath the Chest Umbrella.

He further emphasized the need for prompt giving. "Delayed donations," said Mr. Witherell, "are like a time bomb, they go off in our face and cost your Chest one to one-and-one-half per cent extra, which is money diverted away from the intended purpose.

Mrs. Richard M. Still served as chairman of the refreshment committee. Mrs. Gordon K. Reid and Mrs. Rollo Payne presided.

Community Chest plaques for outstanding citizenship were presented retiring President Reid and Mr. Osborne and Mrs. Margaret Walsh, secretary.

Kaaren Engle Wed On Saturday

Kaaren Engle was married to Anthony Louis Stanley on Saturday morning at 11:30 o'clock in the Little Chapel of the Church of the Wayfarer by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray.

She was escorted to the altar by her father, Peter Engle, of Arcadia. Her pale pink taffeta princess-style gown had a ballerina-length skirt. A circlet of pink rosebuds held in place the short veil which covered her face and she carried a spray arrangement of pink carnations. Her shoes matched her dress.

Joan Engle was her sister's attendant wearing a white pique sheath dress with blue hat and accessories and carrying a bouquet of blue iris.

Best man for the bridegroom was Roland Kent of Monterey.

Mrs. Adrienne B. Engle of Carmel attended her daughter's marriage in a full-skirted ballerina-length dress fashioned from an emerald green sari. Her accessories were black and her corsage a spray of white butterfly orchids.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Harriet Stanley of Monterey, was unable to be present at the ceremony.

A luncheon for the wedding party and guests was held in the Crystal Room at Pine Inn following the wedding. The bride and bridegroom cut their cake at the luncheon then left for the bride's home where they were toasted in champagne before leaving for a honeymoon in Southern California and Mexico.

They are expected back this week end and will make their home on the Peninsula. Kaaren is a member of the senior class at Carmel High School. Both young people belong to the Kent Singers, a local folk song group at the Craft Studios. Kaaren's father acts in television dramas under the name of Peter Whitney.

ADAMS & SELARDS

Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Herron are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Gretchen, to Edward Carlton Stetson, son of Colonel and Mrs. H. D. Stetson of Pacific Grove and Monterey Peninsula Country Club.

The wedding was on January 17 in the First Presbyterian Church of Carson City, Nevada. Witnessing the ceremony were the groom's

Measles In Mexico

Virginia and Will Shaw are back in Carmel after a Mexican vacation which included, for Will, an extra week in Taxco where he recuperated from measles. "Even though I could only get up for five minutes on New Year's Eve, the lights of Taxco were so wonderful it was almost worth having the measles to see them," he says.

Before measles, Virginia and Will visited Mexico City, "more cosmopolitan than most people realize," reports Will, "with remarkable food, architecture, bookstores, art and people."

The Shaws also saw Oaxaca and purchased triangular ponchos of the region, famous for its weaving, then relaxed on the beaches and swam in the ocean at tropical Mazatlan before coming home.

Prominent in their Carmel Highlands home is a pig-bodied horse which they bought on their travels. Named Pegasus, the pottery animal is being fed coins "for our next flight to Mexico," say the Shaws. "We can hardly wait to go back."

Carmel Girl Night Editor

Sallyanne Durr is the new night editor of the Stanford Daily, student newspaper on the Palo Alto campus. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Durr of Rancho Rio Vista and in her junior year at Stanford.

Mexico By Bus, Train, Plane

Mr. and Mrs. William K. Stewart are back in their Carmel Highlands home after three weeks in Mexico. They flew to Mexico City, climbed the Mayan ruins in Merida, then spent two days following winding roads to Oaxaca. "In a Mexican bus with turkeys," Mrs. Stewart reports. In Mazatlan, Mr. Stewart caught a marlin, "Bigger than he, and we have pictures to prove it," according to Mrs. Stewart. A plane strike caused them next to travel for two days on a train to Nogales, then home by air. "Everyone should go to Mexico every six months," is Mrs. Stewart's opinion after her enjoyable vacation.

Visit Desert Country

Mr. and Mrs. George Nickel are on a visit to Southern California and will travel to Arizona before returning here.

Town Topics ...

He was awarded a Pulitzer Prize, wrote a Sun School seventh grader last week listing biographical facts about an American author.

Russ Morgan, master of piano, trombone, vibraphone, celeste, marimba and organ, with his orchestra will play for a Hartnell-Monterey Peninsula College dance in the Salinas Armory February 13.

Students will listen to an orchestra leader whose musical attainments should be an inspiration. When Morgan was a teenager, his family's circumstances caused him to work in Pennsylvania coal mines. He saved, bought his first musical instrument, a trombone, and took music lessons. When he was 18 years old he went to New York and within a few years was arranging music for John Philip Sousa and Victor Herbert.

Hartnell College students are inviting MPC students to the dance at which Morgan's orchestra will play.

"Good!" said Spanish Instructor Donald Craig recently after students bemoaned "no view" from new wing classrooms at the High School. "You have to look at me," he continued, "since you stopped trying to count the holes in the acoustic tiles in the ceiling I've had your full attention."

"But we only did that in math class, Mr. Craig," quipped sophomore Bruce Bennett.

Council Adopts Master Plan Minus Business District

After all these years and tears, the city council adopted the master plan for Carmel (minus the business district features) substantially as Lawrence Livingston, Jr., wrote it in June, 1956. It was done in a few minutes, unanimously, unspectacularly, without benefit of oratory.

Pine Cone issue of January 27 contains a digest.

A concurrent resolution was passed directing the planning commission to re-study the sections covering the proposed Carmel Valley mouth shopping center, the Junipero Street from Eighth to north city limits development as a four-lane major access route, and the Monte Verde Street secondary access.

Victoria Eaton

Mrs. Victoria Eaton died unexpectedly on January 27 of a heart attack in her home at Fourteenth Avenue and Camino Real. She was born in San Francisco and had been a widow for many years.

Mrs. Eaton came to live in Carmel 10 years ago. She was a member of the Monterey Peninsula World Affairs Council, the Republican Women's Club and the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Carmel.

Survivors are a daughter, Babette Eaton of London, England, and a nephew, Lewis Eaton of Fresno.

Funeral services were held in the Paul Funeral Chapel on January 29.

Friends wishing to honor the memory of Mrs. Eaton may do so in the form of donations to First Church of Christ, Scientist, Carmel.

Frank DiFranco

Frank DiFranco, manager of the Mediterranean Market, died on January 27 in a local hospital of injuries received in an automobile accident near Prunedale on January 24.

Mr. DiFranco was born in New Orleans, Louisiana, on January 1, 1906. Before moving to Carmel three years ago, he lived in San Mateo and was a member of the San Mateo Butchers Union, Local 516.

He is survived by his wife, Marie, and a daughter, Marilyn, both of Carmel; and five brothers and two sisters.

Ida M. Curtis

Memorial services for Miss Ida Maynard Curtis, 99-year-old artist and Carmel resident for 40 years, were held on January 31 in the Church of the Wayfarer. She died on January 28.

Miss Curtis was a member of the Carmel Art Association. Three years ago her long association with this group was celebrated by a reception in her honor and a one-man show of her work.

She was born on January 12, 1860, in Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, but moved with her family to Boston, Massachusetts, while still an infant. She was a graduate of Cornell University and taught arts and sciences in Brighton High School, Boston, for many years. Summers, Miss Curtis studied at the Art Students League in New York, in Paris, France, in Munich, Germany, and painted on Cape Cod. A summer in Bermuda led her to forsake portrait painting for landscapes. She abandoned school teaching to open a studio in Boston, and her work was exhibited widely on both the East and West coasts. Her name is listed in the International Blue Book of the World's Notables, and Who's Who of American Women. She was a member of the Carmel Foundation and the Church of the Wayfarer.

Sport Notes . . .

Carmel High's lightweight and varsity teams made a trip to San Jose last Saturday night for return games with the Lincoln High squads. The Lincoln Babes avenged an earlier loss to the Little Padres as they powered to a 37-25 win. Carmel's varsity, beaten rather handily in the first outing, came close to upsetting the favored Abes in the return go, bowing 48-46 after leading most of the way.

The Big Padres were in front with a minute to go but the hosts turned on the heat in the final 30 seconds to sew it up.

Dale Dawson and Russ Wise took up where they left off in the win over Pacific Grove by hitting for a combined total of 29 points. Russ banged in six field goals while Dale hit for seven field goals and three charity tosses. The big Lincoln squad is one of the leaders in the San Jose league and the Padres may get another shot at them in the new Peninsula tournament.

Exhibitions of his work were held throughout the United States and his pictures are included in many private collections. He was a member of the American Water Color Society.

An especially - commissioned oil painting of Santa Barbara Mission, the work of Fridolin Haass, hangs in the Governor's office in the State Capitol in Sacramento.

After leaving Carmel some years ago, Mr. Haass lived in Santa Barbara before moving to Laguna Beach.

Guests of the Court on this occasion, also a tenth anniversary, were the Reverend Leon S. Darcowski from the U. S. Naval Post-graduate School; Mrs. Roy Fitzgerald, vice state regent from San Diego; Mrs. Harold Shott, state secretary from Salinas; Mrs.

Youth Center Gets City Land For Auditorium

Last night the city council agreed to allow the Carmel Youth Center to use 20 feet of city land at the rear of the center so that the auditorium can be enlarged.

William Giles of the Youth Center Adult Board told the council that there were very good prospects of the center's receiving $15,000 for the addition to the auditorium from the Crosby fund.

City attorney will have the legal forms prepared for council approval at the special meeting on February 17.

Foresters Choose Joseph Weston For Chairman

(Continued from Page One) on the map was much "darker" than the outlying areas. "But we have an ever-aging stand of trees. We must get over to the citizens the need to preserve and care for their trees, and to plant pines on their own property."

The commission was told of the five year pine planting plan now in operation. The street department has been setting out young pines on an average of five a day since the end of the January storm.

Each member of the board was given a copy of the ordinance establishing the commission to study. In addition to Weston, Teague and Blanks, members are James Buffington, street commissioner, and Ernest Leffingwell.

Council Sets Hearing On Gas Station

(Continued from Page One) vision for appeals, and last night the council was served with notice of appeal, signed by 20 Carmel voters. The council had no choice but to set a date for a public hearing.

Signers of the notice of appeal were Charles W. Fisher, Fred E. Nelson, Charles M. Marcolli, James Burgess, R. A. Stephensen, Carl Patnude, A. C. Grimshaw, Patrick Grimshaw, Maurice Grimshaw, Charles H. Grimshaw, Shirley Patnude, U. R. Moore, Susumu Uyeda, Mrs. James F. Gurley, Barbara Gurley, Manuel Pereira, Claire Eagleton, Michael J. Balazs, Fred Leidig, Mrs. Clara Ledig.

Other Citizens Committee moves to hamper Carmel Plaza development and future large commercial building projects took the form of two proposed ordinances, introduced by Councilman Gunnar Norberg. The ordinances, one of them an amendment to the interim zoning ordinance, would restrict the size of building site and amount of site that could be used, also cubic foot volume of structure, so that it would be impossible to construct large buildings, or solid blocks, as is planned for the Fenton development.

Mayor John Chitwood, showing irritation, complained that he had had no notice that the ordinances were to be presented. "This hits me cold. I don't know a thing about it."

Council referred one of the ordinances to the planning commission, the other to themselves, for study.

Frances Adney

Mrs. Frances Adney, 84, died in her home at Seventh Avenue and San Antonio Street on January 30. She had been a resident of Carmel for many years. There are no known survivors.

Mrs. Adney, an artist, lived as recluse. She left her home only to buy food, her head swathed in a heavy black veil on these occasions.

Ex-mayor Horace Lyon reports that Mrs. Adney indicated she had deeded her property after her death to the City of Carmel to be used in some manner for the Harrison Memorial Library. Nothing was recorded to his knowledge, however, he observed.

Miss Elizabeth Niles, retired librarian, knew Mrs. Adney as a pleasant and cultured person in her associations with her over the years.

Private funeral services are tomorrow afternoon, followed by cremation in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea.

Tryouts Again Monday Of Young Soloists For County Symphony

Two pianists, a Carmel girl and a Salinas boy, have been chosen by Monterey County Symphony Orchestra director Gregory Millar as possible soloists for the Symphony's Children's Concert on March 8 in Sunset Auditorium. Tryouts were held last week.

On Monday, Mr. Millar will again hear the two pianists. The Carmel girl played a movement from a Beethoven piano concerto and the Salinas boy a movement from a Mozart concerto.

Gregory Millar emphasizes that if other talented young musicians wish to be heard, he will audition again on Monday afternoon in the music room at Carmel High School at 3:30 o'clock. Players of any orchestral instrument, 16 years old or under, are eligible to tryout as Children's Concert soloists.

Two New Shows At The Gallery

Two shows opened at the Carmel Art Association Galleries on Tuesday. In the center gallery a one-man exhibit of the work of veteran Carmel artist Ferdinand Burgdorff will be displayed until March 1. Concurrently with the Burgdorff show, members' work is on exhibit in the main Gallery and Beardsley Room. Miss Sophie Harpe was chairman of the hanging committee for the membership show.

The board of directors of the Art Association meet on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

New officers and members will be welcomed at a cocktail-buffet party on St. Valentine's Day (February 14) from 5:30-8:00 o'clock. Chairmen of arrangements for the affair are Frank Dorn and Jessie MacGregor, assisted by committee members Jeannette Lewis, Kathryn Aurner, Maxine Albro, Mason Wright, Fred Klepich and president, Leslie Emery.

Tuesday Was Good Day For Pines On Council Tour List

(Continued from Page One) street access to the motel. Mayor Chitwood thought the trees were dead or dying (the setting sun was in his eyes). Street Commissioner Buffington wanted to widen the street.

At Santa Rita and Fifth the council decided to authorize removal of a pine on the northwest corner which grows on a high bank and may have weakened roots. They disagreed on the extent of hazard offered by the pine on the northwest corner, also on a high bank, and decided to refer it to the newly-formed forest commission for inspection and recommendation.

They told Mrs. Henry F. Greenwood that the pine in front of her house on Monterey Street between First and Second wasn't likely to blow down, proposed to plant another pine near it, and to inspect it again in July to see how it is getting along. Its bark has been damaged, but it is thick-trunked and squat.

Investigators Keep Plugging Away On Month-Old Mohr Case

Sheriff's investigators continue interviewing known acquaintances of Mrs. Clara Mohr, hoping to discover information which will aid them in finding her murderer. Mrs. Mohr's stabbed and mutilated body was discovered in her Hatton Fields Mesa home on January 10.

Dr. Paul Kirk, criminologist consultant from the University of California, here last week to review the Mohr case, stated that, in his opinion, the murder was committed by a man. Only a man, he thought, had the necessary strength to commit the crime as it was reconstructed by the sheriff's office.

He agreed with sheriff's investigators' reconstruction, that Mrs. Mohr ran out of her home to escape the killer, was attacked outside, then dragged back into her bedroom. The murder weapon is presumed to be a knife from Mrs. Mohr's kitchen.

Dr. Kirk took back to Berkeley evidence collected by sheriff's investigators. After further study, he will send a report to the sheriff's office, according to Captain D. V. Smith, of the sheriff's investigation department, in charge of the Mohr case.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MA 4-3881.

CITY BEING SUED FOR $100,000

Louis Stellman, through his attorney William K. Stewart, will bring a damage suit for $100,000 against the City of Carmel on Monday morning in Superior Court in Salinas. The action arises from an automobile accident early last year in which Mr. Stellman's wife was fatally injured.

Attorney J. T. Harrington of Salinas will defend the city. City Clerk Larry Rose, Police Chief Clyde Klaumann and Street Superintendent William Askew have been subpoenaed as witnesses for the plaintiff in Monday's action.
